6. CITATION STYLES AND REFERENCE METHODS

The thesis must be written in one of the two formats suitable for the related Department. The first is the American Psychological Association (APA) format, and the second is the Chicago Notes and Bibliography system.

6.1. APA Method

For any information that does not belong to the author in the thesis, the author has to indicate the source cited. For the information and data transferred by the author from his previous studies, the source should be cited by referring to the previous publication. Every publication mentioned in the content of the thesis should be included in the references section.

In order to facilitate the application of the APA style, which should be used in the references and citation sections of the theses, you can examine the alternative suggestions below.

1- Mendeley offers a service that provides automatic bibliography transfer free of charge. You can automatically prepare your references in the desired format by using the program after the membership process from the link https://www.mendeley.com/.

2- All the features of the APA format from http://www.apastyle.org/ or by getting one of the APA format spelling guides.

3- It has an automatic bibliography creation feature for the theses to be written using Microsoft Office Word. This feature is presented under "APA, MLA, Chicago: Formatting bibliographies automatically" from the link: https://support.office.com/en-us/article/APA-MLA-Chicago-Source%C3%A7alar%C4%B1-auto-as-bi%C3%A7imleme-733ef2c2-fb65-4641-b3e6-91b9cc92085f
